

21 February 1962

L-3721

Professor James R. Schlesinger
James Wilson Department of Economics
University of Virginia
University Station
Charlottesville, Virginia

Dear Jim:

You shame me! I must confess that the gigantic house-to-house canvass for summer accommodations for the Schlesingers had not yet been organized when I received your letter. I can't imagine taking care of such a thing for myself four months in advance, although I suppose there is something to be said for your way of life. Anyway, I have now stopped looking at the bulletin boards, which had not yet turned up anything promising.

We are looking forward very much to seeing you this summer. Unfortunately I don't think that I will be able to take up your invitation to accompany you on any side-trips in the first week in June, since I am planning to go back to Harvard to receive a Ph.D. (They are not yet planning to give me one, but I am planning to surprise them.)

Looking forward to talking to you, doctor-to-doctor, this summer.

Sincerely,

Daniel Ellsberg
Economics Department

DE/ss